TRIP TO NEW YORK?

i wonder if there is actually any credible evidence to support gravity. it defies inertia. if pick up a ball, and it drops, where did the energy come from to drop it? gravity isn't energy. it's a force. and force requires energy. so, where did it come from? maybe from picking up the ball. but if i drop it into a deep hole, which is deeper than the ground it was lifted up on, it still drops into there.
